WALKER GOES TO SHELBYVILLE

Christian Pastor Accepts Call To Larger Congregation After 10 Years' Work Here

Rev. D. M. Walker has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Christian church at Shelbyville.

After having the matter under careful and prayerful consideration for over a week, after receiving the unanimous call from the Shelby congregation, he wired his acceptance this morning. Just when he will leave Stanford to take charge of his new field, is not finally settled yet, it is understood, but it will probably be within a few weeks.

Rev. Walker has been pastor of the Christian church here for 10 years. That he has done a wonderful work in building up the church, and has at all times been a pillar of good in the community is known and recognized by everyone. There are few more eloquent expounders of the Word in any denomination than this young man. He is a hard student, a fluent speaker, a magnificent singer, and of remarkable energy and courage in standing up and fighting boldly for what he believes to be the right. His leaving Stanford will be sincerely regretted by a host of loyal friends. He goes to a much larger field, however, to a more prosperous church, and at a much larger salary, it is understood, and his friends predict for him a still more brilliant future in the larger vineyard of the Master into which he will soon enter.

The Habit of Taking Cold

With many people taking cold is a habit, but fortunately one that is easily broken. Take a cold sponge. Also sleep with your window up. Do this and you will seldom take cold. When you do take cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of it as quickly as possible, bath every morning when you first get up out of bed—not ice cold, but a temperature of about 38 degrees. Obtainable everywhere.

High School Notes

The query which will be debated this year by the high schools of Kentucky is: "Resolved, That the federal government should own and operate the railways." Every secondary and high school has been invited to participate in the contest of 1917. Every school that enters will be grouped with two others for a triangular debate, each school putting out two teams, one on the affirmative and the other on the negative. The schools winning both debates will be entitled to send to the university, their teams to compete for the state championship cup.

The National Committee on Prisons, through the courtesy of Mr. Adolph Lewis, is offering three prizes for these or essays on phases of the prison problem. For a Master's Thesis, one prize of $50. For an Under-graduate essay, one prize of $25. For an essay prepared by a student of a preparatory school, one prize of $25. The judges will be: Prof. James C. Egbert, director, Extension Teaching and Summer Session, Columbia University; Dr. Hastings H. Hart, director, Child-Helping Department, Russell Sage Foundation; Honorable William H. Wadhams, Judge, Court of General Sessions, City of New York. All duly accredited students are eligible. Many papers and essays are written simply for class exercise; they are neither original nor have they real interest for the student or professor who has to read them. To have an opportunity to get new and live material for our essays on a subject in which we all take a vague interest is worth while in itself. Then we have a chance to show the people at Columbia that we have real talent here and can beat all comers. Then we don't know a student who couldn't use the money or maybe contribute it to the Athletic Association which could make it come in very handy. Anyone interested will report to the Superintendent for further information.

With this week begins a new school term lasting until the latter part of May and it is sincerely hoped by all that it will be one of the most successful that the school has ever witnessed. Examination were held last week and some who had applied themselves in such a way so as to make an average of 85 or more in their subjects including deportment and who had no unexcused absences or tardy marks against their names were fortunate enough to enjoy the examination week as a vacation.

It will not be long before the baseball players will get together and organize for the coming season and the prospects show that the team will by all means be as strong as last year. It is hoped that this year the squad will have more games on their schedule than they did last year. Those who wish games the team would be delighted to hear from.

The Honorable Joel T. Embury of the senior class has decided he is a musician and accordingly has purchased him an "Ukulele" (no one but Joe T. knows what that is) but we are sure that you may hear some most fascinating music at most any time if you pass up Danville avenue, for anything "T" starts at he usually accomplishes.

Stith T. Noe has decided to take up drumming for the Larkin establishment, but he still continues at school, and would be delighted to sell you most anything you might need.

MRS. L. S. WARFIELD DEAD

Mrs. L. S. Warfield, one of the best known women in the Highland section, died at the home of her husband there about 11 o'clock Sunday night. ## No Chance For Building

Dispatches From Washington Say "Pork Barrel Bill" Is Doomed

Dispatches from Washington say that there is no chance of the bill containing a provision appropriating $5,000 for the purchase of a government building site in Stanford ever seeing "the light of day" in the Senate. The papers say that it will die in the Senate committee, and would be defeated if it came to a vote in that body, anyway. Congressman Helm has urged all who are interested to write to the two senators from Kentucky, urging them to do all in their power for the bill, but as it carries a total appropriation of $38,000,000 some of the papers have said that President Wilson would veto it if it passed the Senate. A dispatch from Washington said Saturday of the bill: Defeat of the $38,000,000 public building bill, denounced in and out of Congress as a "pork-barrel measure," which passed the House a week ago is certain. A poll of the Senate committee on public buildings and grounds, taken Friday, indicates that the bill will die with this Congress. Unless the members of the Senate committee experience a change of heart, the measure will not be reported out of committee during the five remaining weeks of the final session. The Kentucky towns sharing in the appropriations and the amount they receive are as follows: Harboursville, $25,000; Central City, $30,000; Eminence, $40,000; Falmouth, $25,000; Hazard, $40,000; Hickman, $5,000 for site; Madisonville, $40,000; Murray, $25,000; Pikeville, $35,000; Pineville, $5,000 for site; Russellville, $10,000 for site; Shelbyville, $25,000 for extension of present building and purchase of additional ground and Stanford, $5,000 for a site.

By a vote of 31 to 132 the House Friday passed the $38,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill. Representatives Swager, Sherley and Harvey Helm were the Kentuckians who voted against the bill. Representative J. C. Cantrell and Ben Johnson were not present.

To Settle Fair Site

Another Meeting Is Called For Next Saturday Afternoon

Somerset Officer In Bad

Lieut. Shadoan Dismissed From Service And Gets Prison Term

Many friends in this section will regret to learn of the trouble in which Lieut. James H. Shadoan, of Somerset, finds himself. A dispatch from Washington Monday said of the young militiaman:

Second Lieut. James H. Shadoan, of the Second Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, a resident of Somerset, will cease to be an officer of his organization tomorrow, will be dismissed from the service of the United States and confined to "hard labor for six months," the War Department announced today. Lieut. Shadoan was tried by a general court-martial December 4 at Camp Owen, Bienville, El Paso, on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman in violation of the sixty-first article of war and of conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline in violation of the second article of war. A statement of the case issued at the office of Brig. Gen. Henry P. McCain, the Adjutant General of the army, follows:

"Lieut. Shadoan was charged with having collected, under instructions of his company commander, the amounts due the post exchange from the men of his company, $172, and having fraudulently converted the same to his own use and benefit; of having fraudulently made over collections in the amount of $16 from members of his company and converting the same to his own use and benefit. The court found the accused guilty of the charges and sentenced him to be dismissed from the service of the United States, and to be confined to hard labor at such place as the reviewing authority may direct for six months. The President confirmed the sentence, and Lieut. Shadoan ceases to be an officer of his organization from January 29, 1917."

Lieut. Shadoan is a member of one of the prominent families in Pulaski county. His father, George W. Shadoan, is County Attorney there. Lieut. Shadoan had been connected with the National Guard for several years before the President's call and the reviewing authority may direct prior to that time. Before going to the border he was a freight conductor on the Queen & Crescent. He has a wife and several children living at Somerset, in addition to numerous friends.

HELD UP BY HIGHWAYMEN

Gang Of Unknown Negroes Search Deputy Postmaster Will Grimes For Keys To Office

Five unknown negro men held up and searched Deputy Postmaster Wm. Grimes at 4:15 o'clock last Saturday morning, as he came down the hill on Cutoff pike, to open up and assort mail for early morning distribution. As luck would have it, for the first time in months, Mr. Grimes did not have the keys of the postoffice with him, or money or other things of value. He had changed his clothes hastily, from a suit he wore the night before, and the keys had been left with John Reid McKinney, who had planned to get down to help Mr. Grimes that morning.

Mr. Grimes said that it was very dark at that time of the morning, and he noticed a bunch of men standing at the bridge south of H. C. Anderson's garage as he came down the hill. He thought it peculiar, but went ahead, and as he passed by the bunch, two big negroes stepped in front of him, and stopped him. He heard one ask just before he got to them, "Isn't this the one?"

When they stopped him, they made no explanation, but "frisked" him quickly, going through all of his pockets. He told them that he didn't have "a thing," and when they saw that he had told them the truth, they let him go and came on to town. When a short distance away, he looked back and saw the bunch disappearing under the bridge. He could not tell whether they went up or down the creek.

Mr. Grimes says that it was so dark he couldn't tell whether all of the crowd were negroes or not. The two who stopped him were big, burly negroes, he says. Three more were standing off a short distance, but owing to the darkness, he could not tell whether they were black or white.

Friends of Mr. Grimes believe that he had a narrow escape with his life, for it is probable that had the negroes found the keys to the postoffice on him, they might have taken them for the purpose of looting the office and to keep Mr. Grimes from spreading an alarm, might have knocked him in the head and pitched his body under the bridge.

No clew has been found to the identity of the bunch of negroes. Mr. Grimes says that the two who held him up were unknown to him, but he might be able to identify them if he saw them again.

WALTON WILL VISIT PANAMA

Chaiborne Walton, a United States Marine from Stanford, will visit the Panama Canal, when the huge battleship Montana completes her cruise in the West Indies and sails for the Isthmus, in accordance with the winter schedule of the Atlantic Fleet. Chaiborne, who is a son of E. C. Walton, of Stanford, enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at its Akron, Ohio recruiting station on Sept. 22, 1916, and will perform his regular military duties aboard the Montana while the big dreadnaught steams through the waterway from coast to coast. Comparatively few Americans are favored with an opportunity to visit the great canal, and this trip to the tropics, which has been aptly timed to avoid the rigors of a northern winter, will doubtless prove of great educational value to the local boy.

Mother! Give Child "Syrup of Figs" If Tongue Is Coated

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean Little Liver And Bowels

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the contaminated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. 9-1
